

Answer to question ①.

External style sheet is useful, according to me, it helps in organizing the whole webpage project. This means that, it is not crowded with the html code and javascript code. Plus, we can easily find out ~~the~~ all the styling in one sheet. Let say we have created a style sheet name style.css. We can link to the main page through `<link rel="stylesheet" href="style.css">`

In this way, we can link up the external stylesheet.

We can also link up external javascript code using script tag.

Thus let us conclude that useful of using external stylesheet :

- 1) Help to organize code
- 2) Easy to find all the styling together
- 3) Making code shorter since the style is in another page
